in response, there are repeated assurances from the european commission (among others) that, under ttip, eu member states like the uk will retain the right to manage their health systems as they wish the current ratio is a liquidity ratio used to determine a company's financial health