in the not-too-distant future, maintaining good vision over the course of decades will involve more than one procedure in a lifetime, he predicted.

These researchers evaluated the long-term safety, efficacy, and durability of response to RF treatment (stretta) of the lower esophageal sphincter.