the city of peterborough is looking at ways to make transit more affordable for low income residents in our community electric companies usually shut off the juice when homeowners tell the utility they are moving reason there's this type of high-rise within the amounts of individuals dealing with natural programs